About Us

Now in its 2nd edition, the InstinctWomen Awards seeks to honour women who have promoted equity for women, and demonstrated innovation and thought inspiring leadership in their chosen fields. It acknowledges the progressive contribution of women and their positive impact on the next generation coupled with strong commitment to creating change for the future.

The objective of this award is to highlight and honour these women who are not only successful professionally but have shown creativity in leading their organisations or businesses and are mentors and role models for generation of women to come.

The calibre of all our nominees will mark the position that women are at the forefront of change, leading a shift in diversity, flexibility and leadership that will see "work" in the future finally work for women.
